Dr. Bull's
Cough Syrup

The one you have always used. It is endorsed by the leading doctors as the only absolutely sure and safe cure for cough, cold, whooping cough, croup, bronchitis, or any throat or lung affection.

It Cures Consumption.

IT WILL CURE A COLD
In a Night

There is no remedy "just as good as" Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. The dealer who says so is thinking of his profit only. Don't let a dealer influence you into buying some cheap substitute when your health or the health of some member of your family is at stake.

CURED MEMORABLES.

Wm. H. Breder, of Chryse St., New York City, writes: "I had a cough ever since childhood. It was so bad that blood would spurt from my nose, which would leave me weak, so that I was often compelled to leave my work. I started to take Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and before the third bottle was finished my cough was entirely gone."

SMALL DOSE. PLEASANT TO TAKE.

The accompanying illustration is a facsimile of the genuine package. Sold at all druggists, large bottles, 25c. Be sure that the bottle you buy has on it the trade-mark, "A Bull's Head." Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure quickly and will leave the throat and lungs in a healthy and normal condition. It contains no harmful drugs.

"The" Hague.

Did you ever stop to ask yourself or your knowing friend the meaning of "The" in the place named The Hague? If you are looking for something that will knock the above mentioned knowing friend of his feet, just ask him the significance of the three letters quoted.

When he fails to answer the question, tell him that The Hague as it occurs in the instance cited is simply the anglicized form of the Dutch word "S Gravenhaas" or "S Gravenhage," either of which in the Dutch language means "the count's hedge" or "the count's grove" or "woods."

Originally the location now occupied by the city of The Hague was the hunting grounds of the counts of Holland. About the year 1240 a palace was built in the grove. Presently a village sprang up around the palace—still it was called "The Count's Hedge" and finally and lastly a large city which in the Dutch language has its original significance, but which in modern parlance has been evolved into "The Hague."

Our Bones Built Up In Arches.

The principle of the arch may be said to pervade the construction of the human skeleton. The late Professor Owen points this out very clearly, telling us that in man the skeleton is arranged in a series of segments, which follow and articulate with each other in the direction of the axis of the body from above downward.

This principle accounts for the strength and yet comparative lightness of the whole fabric. From the dome of the skull down to the graceful arch of the foot we may trace this succession of bony hoops or arches, which admirably protect the various parts of the nervous and vascular systems of the body. The skull is found to be but a continuation of the backbone, and each of its four segments, the occipital, parietal, frontal and nasal, consists of an upper neural and a lower hemal arch. Similar arched formations prevail throughout the structure of a human skeleton.

A Venice Industry.

Venice owes the accumulation of great wealth from a new industry to one of her natives named Joquin. It was in the year 1655 that he observed that the scales of a fish called the bleakfish possessed the property of giving a milky luster to water. After experimenting with it he discovered that when beads were dipped into it and then dried they assumed the appearance of pearls. This covering, however, was easily worn away, and successive experiments led to the manufacture of hollow glass beads, all blown separately, then polished in revolving cylinders and finally coated inside with the pearly liquid, the latter being protected with wax. This branch of industry is carried on in Venice to this day.

A Sad Awakening.

In one of Theodore Hook's stories the bridegroom, departing with his bride for their honeymoon, is disturbed by a continual tapping on the floor of the post chaise. It begins to bother him exceedingly. "What the deuce is that noise?" at last he mutters. "It is nothing, darling," answers the bride sweetly. "It is only my wooden leg." Only that and nothing more. She had got accustomed to it from long use, but the information put him out exceedingly and caused a coolness which was permanent.

True Happiness.

The best sort of happiness is rarely visible to the multitude. It lies hidden in old corners and quiet places, and the eager world, which presumably is seeking it, hurries past and never recognizes it, but continues to mistake for it prosperity and riches, noise and laughter, even fame and mere cheap notoriety—Henry Seton Merriman in "The Vintures."

A French Epitaph.

In a French churchyard is a monument having an epitaph of which the following is a translation: "Here lies Jean Pinto, the Spanish vocalist. When he reached heaven, he united his voice with the voices of the archangels. As soon as he heard him the Deity cried, 'Keep quiet, all you fellows, and let us hear alone the illustrious singer, Jean Pinto!'"

Just the Size.

The silver moon peeped up behind the hills of Lake Roland. "What is the height of your ambition?" she asked, more to break the monotony than anything else. "Oh, about five feet two inches," he replied, gazing into her dark eyes. The cards are out—New York Herald.

Well Pleased.

"I say, Bobby," whispered Fitzgibbon, "was your sister pleased to learn that I had called upon her?" "Yes, indeed she was," replied Bobby. "When mother told her that you had called while she was out, she said, 'Thank heaven!'"

To Get Rid of a Troublesome Corn.

First soak it in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing the blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days, to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale by Richard Gibson, druggist.
